Who is AAGLA?

The Apartment Association of Greater Los Angeles (AAGLA ) is a trade association and government advocate serving rental housing providers throughout Southern California since 1917. Today, our association's members are over 10,000 strong and own or manage more than 350,000 rental units. Our diverse group of members consist of both rental housing providers and residential property management professionals, developers and other real estate professionals, and vendors that serve rental housing businesses.
